Drift

IN THIS the Centennial edition of the Butler University Drift, it is a pleasure to extend greetings to students, faculty, alumni, and friends of Butler University. For many years the Drift has played an important part in the progress of the University. It has been not only a book recording in picture and in print the events of each year on the campus, but it has also been an artistic production. Alumni and friends at Butler University continuously refer to copies of the Drift for information concerning classmates, faculty and campus development. This beautiful Centennial edition is a fitting climax to many years of publication of the Drift and it is a most appropriate basis for the beginning of the next one hundred years of the progress and growth of the University. The future holds much of promise for Butler University. Already an increase in enrollment is getting under way. This increase will in all probability be gradual for two or three years, then mount rapidly thereafter. To meet the demands of the future, Butler University must continue to grow in faculty and facilities. As an urban university in a swiftly growing city, a rare opportunity to serve a metropolitan area is offered. With the assistance of students, faculty, alumni, and all others connected with the institution, that opportunity can be met, and the Drift of the future will record in portrait, picture and print the accomplishments of the oncoming years.

Men's Residence Hall

An important step toward the expansion of Butler University was taken with the addition of the Men's Residence Hall located at 629 West Hampton Drive.

Costing approximately $1,000,000, it was the first such building on the Fairview campus and preceded a women's dormitory which the University started this spring.

The dorm has rooms for 278 men students and three counsellors. At the present time, 166 men are living there, representing 18 states, the Philippine Islands and the Canal Zone.

Each room has facilities for two men with two lounge-type beds, double desks, lounge chair, night table, three lamps and double clothes closers. The hall also has a fully-equipped game room and a lounge, which is the largest single area in the dorm.

Holcomb Observatory

The newest addition to the Butler campus was formally completed with the dedication on November 5, 1954 of the James Irving Holcomb Observatory and Planetarium. This officially opened the University's year-long centennial celebration.

The building was designed and constructed in eighteen months under the direction of Arthur Lindberg, superintendent of building and grounds for Butler. Dr. Harry Crull (right) is Director of the observatory.

The 38-inch reflecting telescope is the largest in the state and 10th largest in the nation. An interesting feature of the telescope is that the guide telescope, a six-inch refractor, is the reconditioned former occupant of the University observatory on the old Irvington campus. It was rebuilt by the J. W. Fecker Company, who constructed the telescope.

The building, which will be one of the outstanding attractions of the midwest, was donated by Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Holcomb of Indianapolis who contributed the entire $350,000 cost. Mr. Holcomb is Vice-President of the Board of Directors of Butler University and chairman of the Committee on Building and Grounds.

Outdoor Theatre

Butler students returning to classes last September found the Butler Bowl undergoing a change.

A $250,000 outdoor theatre was under construction in the south end of the bowl.

The theater is being built by the City of Indianapolis as a part of a city-wide park improvement program on ground leased from Butler for $1.00 a year. It will be used jointly by the city and the University for many purposes, including outdoor presentations and commencement exercises.

Construction on the Women's Residence Hall, which is to cost approximately $1,000,000, began this spring.

The building, located across from sorority row, will be similar in appearance to the recently constructed Men's Residence Hall and will accommodate 230 girls.

A feature that will particularly appeal to the girls is a tunnel leading to Atherton Center. In addition to providing easy access to the Union building, the tunnel will allow the Atherton kitchen to supply food to the girls' dining room.

Women's Residence Hall

Atherton Center

Atherton Center is being operated this year under the management of its new director, Miss Margaret Grimes, who has replaced the former director, Mr. Robert Newton.

Assisting Miss Grimes in the many activities of the building were: Mrs. Reva Ferrell, Manager of the Cafeteria; Mrs. Maude Marceluk, Manager of the Campus Club; Mrs. Kay Eisenbrow, Manager of the Bookstore; Mr. Myron Dawson, Manager of the Barber Shop; Mr. Carl Harner, Manager of the Billiard Room; and Mr. Ray Gregg, Custodian of the Building.

Activity center of the campus is the "C-Club" located in the basement of Atherton Center where students gather between classes. A billiard room and ping-pong tables are located at the south end of the C-Club, and a barber shop is situated at the north end.

The north end also houses the book store and the drug store which contains every thing from greeting cards to sweaters.

The second floor is made up of the cafeteria and the lounge. The cafeteria dining room is also used for school dances and other functions. The third floor contains offices for many University activities including the Alumni Office, Drift Office, YMCA Office, BISA, Trianon, Panhel, AWS. In addition to these rooms, a reception room with a kitchenette, and the faculty lounge are situated on this floor.

Butler Celebrates Centennial Year

Following the theme of "Truth and Freedom Through Learning," Butler University is celebrating its Centennial year. One hundred years ago, on November 1, 1855, Butler first opened its doors under the name of Northwestern Christian University.

In 1877, the Board of Directors adopted the name of Butler University, in honor of Ovid Butler, although he seriously objected to this change. After leading other civic-minded citizens in obtaining a charter for the University, Mr. Butler served as president of the Board of Directors for twenty years.

From a beginning enrollment of slightly more than 100, the University has grown until today, its student body numbers nearly 5000. Butler's first graduating class contained 3 members, a figure ridiculously low when compared to the 400 members in this year's Centennial graduating class. In 1855, the faculty consisted of seven members, while the Butler teaching staff now boasts 130 members.

If not actually the first, Butler was among the first colleges in the United States to offer the same advantages to women as to men. Its progressive attitude was further illustrated by the adoption of the elective system. That system, now in general use though modified, was then a decided innovation and had been tried in only two other colleges.

Students in 1855 had their choice of six departments: English, Mathematics, Classical Languages, Natural Sciences, Morals, and Law. Today, the University consists of ten colleges, schools, and divisions: Liberal Arts and Sciences, Education, Business Administration, Pharmacy, Jordan College of Music, the University College, the graduate School of Religion, the Division of Graduate Instruction, and the Evening Division. In addition, Butler is affiliated with the John Herron Art School.

Progress and achievement, twin cornerstones in the foundation of Butler University, are also exemplified by the building program. From a small college, with a campus of 26 acres, Butler has become a major university with one of the most beautiful campuses in the Midwest.

The Arthur Jordan Memorial Hall was the first building to be erected when the University was moved to Fairview Campus in 1928. In the same year, the Fieldhouse was built. 1942 saw the construction of the School of Religion Building; Atherton Center followed eight years later. In 1951, the Pharmacy Building, the J. I. Holcomb Memorial Gardens, and Holcomb Lake further enhanced the beauty of our campus. The autumn of 1954 was marked by the opening of the Men's Residence Hall and the dedication of the J. I. Holcomb Observatory and Planetarium.

But Butler has not stopped growing. In this, its Centennial year, plans are under way for a women's dormitory, the Holcomb Bird Sanctuary, a library, and a Fine Arts Building which will include an auditorium.

This building was the home of the first students to attend Butler University. Located at 13th and College, it was opened in November, 1855. A three story Gothic structure with two towers, the building was considered an imposing edifice and was admired by the whole community. This location was abandoned in 1875 for the new Irvington site.

Many advantages were offered at Butler's new location. Opportunities for healthful recreation and exercise abounded in this small community, relatively free from the disturbances of a large city. A two-story building, large enough for 500 students and consisting of 12 recitation rooms and a large chapel, was built on this new campus. It was with reluctance that the students and faculty moved to a still more spacious site, Fairview Park in northern Indianapolis.

1875

When it became evident that the growth of the university would require new and larger buildings, 246 acres of campus known as Fairview Park were acquired. In 1928, Arthur Jordan Memorial Hall was ready for occupancy, marking the beginning of the tremendous growth and progress which was to come. A glance at pages 14-17 will present a story without words of the constant expansion of Butler University.

Mr. and Mrs. James Irving Holcomb

At the close of our first one hundred years, special tribute should certainly be given to Mr. J. I. Holcomb who has done so much toward making the Butler campus one of the most beautiful in the country. The results of his generosity are everywhere—the Botanical Gardens, the Garden House and Lake, and the Centennial gift from Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb—the Observatory and Planetarium.

Our state, our city, and everyone connected with the University is grateful to the Holcombs.

On April 16, the city of Indianapolis held a tremendous birthday party for Butler University. Under the direction of Mr. Edward P. Gallagher, the largest music festival ever held in Indiana was staged at the Fieldhouse.

Fabien Sevitzyk, conductor of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, directed a 300 piece orchestra and a 700 voice chorus in a program featuring Excerpts from the Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikowski, Rhapsody in Blue by Gershwin, and the Butler Centennial Overture, composed and conducted by Mark Walker. The Jordan Ballet and a Four Piano Quartet high-lighted the program.

Deems Taylor, well-known author, composer, and music authority, served as Master of Ceremonies.

The program was opened with the crowning of Butler's Centennial Queen, Suzanne Lucas, Pi Beta Phi. Mr. J. I. Holcomb performed this honor. The Pi Phis and Phi Delts were awarded trophies for topping other organizations in ticket sales for the affair.

Centennial Observances—November 5, 1954 ••

••• and Founder's Day—February 7, 1955

Holcomb Observatory Dedication

The official observance of Butler University's Centennial began on November 5, 1954, with the convocation in the Fieldhouse and the dedication of the James Irving Holcomb Observatory and Planetarium.

The ceremonies of the busy homecoming weekend opened with the Fieldhouse convocation on Friday morning with Governor George Craig (left) giving the main address concerning the growth of Butler during her first one hundred years. The Governor also paid tribute to Mr. Holcomb for his many contributions to the University.

The convocation honored Charles F. Kettering of the General Motors Corporation who was presented with an honorary degree of Doctor of Science. Mr. Kettering was also the principal speaker at the dedication dinner which was held in Atherton Center in the evening.

Opens Centennial Celebration

In the afternoon, an open house was held at the Observatory which enabled students and the public to see, for the first time, the 38-inch telescope, the planetarium and lecture room, and the beautiful interior of the building.

At the dedication dinner, the 400 invited guests listened to Mr. Kettering and saw a beautiful table centerpiece model of the Observatory. Dean J. Hartt Walsh took color pictures (above) of the dinner showing the model and the speakers' table with Mr. Holcomb, Hilton U. Brown, Mayor Alex Clark, and other guests.

The day was completed with the traditional freshmen pole and tug-of-war battles and the colorful homecoming parade and bonfire.

Four Honored at Founder's Day Program

The second official observance of the Centennial took place on Founder's Day, February 7, 1955.

At the convocation held in the Fieldhouse, four honorary degrees were presented to men who are outstanding in their respective fields, two of whom were Butler graduates.

The principal speaker for the occasion was Indiana's United States Senator Homer E. Capehart who spoke on "The American System of Government—Our Greatest Asset."

Evan B. Walker of the Board of Directors spoke on the significance of Founder's Day which was followed by Senator Capehart's address.

Following the address, the honorary degrees were presented. Senator Capehart received the degree of Doctor of Laws which was presented by Dean Paul A. Cundiff of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

In the science field, the degree of Doctor of Science was presented to Dr. Arthur Clay Cope by Dr. Keith Seymour of the Chemistry Department. Dr. Cope, a 1929 Butler graduate, is prominent in the field of medicinal chemistry.

Dr. Donald A. McGavran, missionary of the United Christian Missionary Society in India, and a world leader in religious education, received a Doctor of Divinity Degree which was presented by Dean O. L. Shelton of the School of Religion. Dr. McGavran received his Bachelor of Arts Degree at Butler in 1920.

Dr. Fabien Sevitzyk, who has been conductor of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra since 1937 and is one of the country's outstanding musical figures, received the degree of Doctor of Music. Dean J. K. Ehlert presented the citation to Dr. Sevitzyk.

In the principal address, Senator Capehart stated, "Our greatest asset in America is the American system of government, a system that permits individual initiative, personal opportunity, a form of government that permits a poor boy to become a rich man."

The Senator concluded by saying, "Thanks to an institution such as Butler, we are carrying on a great tradition, a great system of government."

Continuing our Centennial celebration, a tremendous musical festival was held in the Fieldhouse on April 16. Dr. Sevitzyk conceived the idea for the program which included a chorus of 700 voices and a 300 piece orchestra.

Hilton U. Brown congratulates Senator Capehart at the Founder's Day Program.

Alpha Chi Omega

After a year of eager anticipation and planning, the Alpha Chi chapter of Alpha Chi Omega moved into their brand new house at 725 W. Hampton Drive.

Beverly Brantner served as the president of the Alpha Chi's in this, their thirtieth year on the Butler campus. Using the slogan, "Let's Give 'Em the Double Shuffle," the Alpha Chi's proudly carried home to their new house the trophy for first place in the Homecoming House Decorations. Another honor won that week end was the second place plaque in the Homecoming Float.

The President's Yard Improvement's Trophy adorned their new trophy case this year, and they also received an award for Cerebral Palsy work.

An open house during September officially opened the new Alpha Chi house. At an open house in October, the new pledges were introduced. A Christmas dance, with the theme "Candy Cane Caper," was held in December.

One of the high-lights of the year came at Homecoming, when Theta Sara Spradling was elected Homecoming Queen, and they captured third place in the House Decorations.

Those listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities were Sara Jane Clark, Sandi Baker, and Marge Campbell. Sara Jane Clark was a member of Sigma Tau Delta and Scarlet Quill, while Marge Campbell was president of Scarlet Quill. Sandi Baker was a member of Chimes and treasurer of AWS. Marilyn Boyle, also active in Chimes, was a member of the Student Council.

A treasure hunt and a square dance opened the Theta's social calendar. The Christmas season was ushered in by a Christmas dance, and a tree-decorating party. After many hours of collecting old clothes, toys, and canned goods, the Theta's won first place in the Cheer Drive. Banquets were held during the year, honoring the Theta Dads and the Seniors. As the year swung into spring, the Theta's frolicked at their Spring Formal and their pledge dance.

The usual round of exchange dinners continued through the winter, and the pledges entertained the actives at a formal dance in the spring.

Santa Claus and his eight reindeer graced the Zeta front lawn, and a holiday atmosphere was created by the Christmas decorations.

Carol Manwaring served as MSS editor this year, as well as president of the Student Council. She was also a member of the Varsity debate team, Chimes, and Sigma Tau Delta. Paul D. "Tony" Hinkle

For more than one-third of Butler's first one hundred years, the name of Paul D. "Tony" Hinkle has been associated with athletics at the University.

At present, Hinkle is Athletic Director and head coach of the football, basketball and baseball teams. He is chairman of the N.C.A.A. Rules Committee, was recently named to the Helms Coaching Hall of Fame and is president of the National Basketball Coaches Association.

Before the basketball opener with Illinois last December 2, "Hink's" teams had compiled a 25 year record of 337 victories and 203 losses for a .624 percentage. His Bulldog gridders have posted a 16 season mark of 78 wins, 47 losses and 10 ties.

Hinkle took time out for the Navy from 1942 to 1945, coaching at the U. S. Naval Training School at Great Lakes.

He led Butler to its second national championship in basketball in 1919 and has gained a national reputation as a hardwood coaching master. Many of his former players and students are now coaching in schools in Indiana and other states.

"Tony" was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1921 where he earned nine varsity letters in the sports he now coaches.

One of Butler's most successful spring sports teams in '54 was coach Jim Hauss' golf squad.

The team won seven of eight matches, losing only to Ball State after winning from the Cardinals in an earlier meeting. The season was climaxed by victories in the Indiana Collegiate Conference meet and the Little State championship.

A varsity letter was awarded to Dennis Harrington and Ray Rauch received a service award. Freshman numerals went to Ted Botkin and Charles Butler.

'54 Bluesox Post 11·8 Mark

Butler's 1954 Bluesox started off slowly with losses to Purdue and Wabash in their first two tilts before routing Franklin 13-4 to move into the win column. A doubleheader split with Valparaiso and another setback by Purdue followed before Coach Tony Hinkle's crew embarked on a five game winning streak, their longest of the season.

The string included wins over DePauw, Indiana, Ball State, and a pair from Indiana State.

The final games see-sawed with the Bulldogs dropping a pair in succession, winning three in a row, and winning one of the last three contests. The season closed with a 9-5 loss to Indiana.

Senior pitcher Norm Ellenberger furnished one of the season's highlights with a no-hitter against DePauw, winning 6-1. "Ellie," who was completing a brilliant athletic career at Butler, led the team in pitching with a 6-1 mark, in home runs with 4, in runs-batted-in with 14, and was second in batting with a solid .288 mark.

George Freyn, hard-hitting left fielder, paced the club at bat with a .319 mark in nineteen games and topped the team in hits with 22. Sophomore third baseman Leon Redenbacher posted a .257 mark to take third spot in team batting.

Captain of the team was senior shortstop Dick Campbell who was completing four years of varsity baseball. Dick was the leadoff man and covered the shortstop's area like a blanket.

Varsity "B" awards were presented to Dick Campbell, Fred Davis, Norm Ellenberger, George Freyn, Keith Greve, Don Hipes, James Howell, Beryl Kouns, Leon Redenbacher, and Max Schumacher.

Frank Huff, Bob Pirtle, and Ken Seamon received freshmen numerals and Norm Ellenberger received the Andy Williams Award, given each year to the athlete who has contributed the most to the school during the year.

Andy Williams Award

Norm Ellenberger (right) climaxed his Butler athletic career with the end of the 1954 baseball season.

"Ellie" was the top pitcher on the squad with a 6-1 record which included a no-hitter over DePauw. He also finished second in hitting to George Freyn with a .288 mark and led the club in home runs with four and in runs-batted-in with 14.

Norm received the Andy Williams award which is presented to an outstanding Butler athlete who has shown an "unselfish attitude toward team mates and wholesome conduct as an athlete and a student."

The award is given in honor of Andy Williams who died in 1942 of injuries received while playing on Butler University's 1942 football team. The plaque hangs just outside of the post office in Jordan Hall.

Ellenberger joins a list of previous winners that include Ralph "Buckshot" O'Brien, Orvis "Shorty" Burdsall, Charles Maas, Tom Crawford, and Frank Campbell.

Track ▪ Cross Country ▪ Tennis

BUTLER'S 1954-55 cross-country squad finished with a 1-2 mark in their meets in a season that was hampered because of a lack of runners. Despite this, Coach Galvin Walker's harriers captured fourth place in the ICC meet and closed the regular meets with a victory over Indiana Central.

Varsity letters were presented to Don Owensby and Jack Beasley. Freshman numerals went to Bill Etienne and Bob Stamm.

CHEERLEADERS: L. French, S. Baker, S. Johnson, J. Franklin, C. Sheppard, M. Campbell, J. Woolgar, J. Seymour.

The cheerleaders are a vital part of any school's successful athletic program and the 1954-55 varsity Bulldogs had eight spirited Butlerites directing the cheers during the football and basketball seasons.

The squad consisted of seniors Marge Campbell, John Seymour and Larry French; juniors Judy Woolgar, Sandi Baker, and Cherry Sheppard; and freshmen Sara Johnson and Jim Franklin.

Playing vital behind-the-scenes roles in the activity of the Butler Athletic Department are Jim Morris, trainer, and Charles McElfresh, equipment manager.

"Charlie" is the man that checks, rechecks, and keeps track of all of the balls, bats, shoes, uniforms, and any other equipment that the Bulldogs use, tear, or lose during the course of the year.

The accomplishments of Jim Morris would fill a book by themselves. At the B-men's banquet for Jim last February, principal speaker Angelo Angelopolous of the Indianapolis News summed up the opinion of those attending when he said that he had never seen a banquet that made as much sense as this one.

1954 Butler Bulldogs

Butler's defending Indiana Collegiate Conference champions, who had posted a 5-0 league mark in 1953, relinquished the crown to Valparaiso last season as the Bulldogs finished with a 3-2 ICC mark and a total season record of 4 wins, 4 losses, and one tie.

Coach "Tony" Hinkle's team was bolstered by several sophomore and freshman players who should strengthen future Butler elevens.

Sophomore fullback Leroy Thompson repeated as an All-Conference selection along with team captain Ralph London. Thompson led the team in total yards rushing with 692 yards for an average of 5.4 yards per carry. Two other sophomores, Nolan Masters and Lou Caporale, finished second and third in total yardage with 395 and 279 yards. Both halfbacks, Masters and Caporale averaged six and five yards per carry respectively.

Senior quarterback Les Gerlach was named the most valuable player on the 1954 team by the local sportswriters and radio men. Along with Gerlach, there were six other seniors on the team who received individual trophies at the football banquet. They were Ralph London, tackle; Charles Boltin, Dave Olinghouse, and John Davis, guards; Dick Berndt, center, and Gene Mangin, halfback.

Gerlach completed 26 of 58 attempted passes for 430 yards and three touchdowns. Sophomore quarterback Dick Ahrends hit 17 of 34 passes for 287 yards and three scores, while Tom Rohrabough completed 11 of 28.

Thompson was the team's leading scorer with 61 points on ten touchdowns and one extra point. Masters had four TD's for 24 points; Gerlach tallied three times for 18, and Jim Knox accounted for 13 conversions.

Freshman John Harrell scored twice for 12 points and single touchdowns were accounted for by Carl Fodor, Jim Baker, Lou Caporale, Scott Chandler, Nick Nardo, and Bob Maxey.

In the pass receiving department, ends Leo Mahoney and Scott Chandler led with 152 and 102 yards. Mahoney caught nine passes and Chandler handled eight successfully.

BUTLER 21, EVANSVILLE 14

Butler's Bulldogs opened their defense of the Indiana Collegiate Conference crown with a 21-14 decision over Evansville in a night game at the loser's field on September 25.

Les Gerlach accounted for two of the three Butler touchdowns, driving through the middle in the first quarter and sneaking over in the final period for the winning TD. Nolan Masters broke loose for a 62-yard touchdown run in the third quarter for the second score.

Sophomore tackle Jim Knox converted after all three Butler scores to complete the scoring. A highlight of the contest was the outstanding play of four sophomores, Knox, Masters, Leroy Thompson, and Lou Caporale. Thompson, the hard running fullback, showed the form he displayed last season when he set an ICC rushing record.

WABASH 21, BUTLER 14

The second game again ended in a 21-14 score, this time with the Bulldogs on the short end as Wabash's Little Giants edged Butler in the Bowl.

Leroy Thompson climaxed a Bulldog march in the first quarter, plunging over from the four yard line to give Butler a 6-0 lead. Knox added the seventh point to make it 7-0, a lead which was held through a scoreless second quarter.

Al Pavlikoski, Wabash halfback, tallied for the Cavemen in the third period and quarter-back Vaino Grayani added the PAT to tie the count at 7-7. In the final quarter, the "two platoon" system of Wabash accounted for two more scores and the Bulldogs trailed 21-7.

Thompson scored again with Butler's second touchdown and Knox added the final point in the game. The season total was now 1-1.

BALL STATE 26, BUTLER 13

The Bulldogs dropped their second tilt in three starts, 26-13 to Ball State before a homecoming crowd of 8,600 at Muncie.

The Cardinals started early, scoring on a 52-yard pass play in the first 2½ minutes of action. A Bulldog fumble followed, setting up the second Ball State score. The conversion attempt missed and Butler trailed 13-0.

Leroy Thompson put the Blues back into the game with a 33-yard touchdown sprint around left end for the score. Knox's extra point made it 13-7. A dropped punt set up another State score and the hosts led 20-7 at halftime.

Another fumble, one of six for Butler, set up the final Cardinal tally in the third period. The Bulldog's final score came on a pass from Dick Ahrendts to Carl Fodor, both freshmen. Knox missed his first extra point and the final score stood 26-13.

BUTLER 40, ST. JOSEPH'S 12

Coach "Tony" Hinkle's crew climbed back into the win column with a 40-12 performance against the visiting St. Joe Pumas.

One of the most thrilling and rarest spectacles in football opened the second half of the contest. Butler, already in front 26-0, kicked to Bob Hamman in the end zone who rolled down the sideline for a 100-yard touchdown, shaking off Les Gerlach, the last obstacle, at the Butler 20.

After the conversion was missed, St. Joe kicked off to the Bulldogs with Nolan Masters receiving it on the 18. Masters, with good blocking following Hamman's example, went through the St. Joe team, to rack up an 82-yard Butler score.

Masters and Thompson both accounted for two touchdowns while single scores were collected by Jim Baker and John Harrell. Jim Knox booted four extra points.

The win boosted the season mark to 2-2.

BUTLER 38, INDIANA STATE 26

Butler moved into third place in the ICC with a 38-26 win over Indiana State in a free-scoring contest in the Bowl.

Leroy Thompson intercepted a pass early in the game to set up Lou Caporale's touchdown to open the scoring. Les Gerlach smashed over from the nine, in the second period, to move Butler further ahead.

State came back with a TD but Thompson followed with another Blue score. Dick Ahrendts threw to John Harrell for another touchdown to end the first half scoring. Thompson and end Scott Chandler added TD's in the second half to complete the Bulldog scoring and raise the record to 3-2.

The boom was lowered on Butler's hopes of repeating as conference champion with a stunning 39-7 setback by Valparaiso at Michigan City.

The hard-hitting Crusaders scored twice in the first and fourth quarters and once in the second and third. The lone Butler touchdown came in the third period. A 52-yard run by Lou Caporale set up Leroy Thompson's 19-yard touchdown dash. Knox added the seventh and final Bulldog point.

Three fumbles and an intercepted pass led to four of Valpo's touchdowns. Red Poppe accounted for three TD's and a conversion and Ken Schreiber tallied twice for the winners.

WASHINGTON (ST. L.) 25, BUTLER 6

Washington University of St. Louis, using a single wing attack, handed the Bulldogs their fourth loss in seven starts with a 25-6 decision before a homecoming crowd in the Bowl.

In the first period, Bear fullback Mel Siegel fumbled on the Butler 16 where Leo Mahoney covered for the Bulldogs. Les Gerlach completed four quick passes, one to Mahoney in the end zone where interference was ruled putting the ball on the Washington one. Nolan Masters plunged over to give Butler a 6-0 lead.

After a scoreless second quarter, the lead stood until the third period when the Bears marched 65 yards for their first score. They also turned two pass interceptions and a Butler fumble into scores to boost their record for the season to 5-2.

The Bulldogs, who had picked up 103 yards rushing in the first half, were held to a -6 total in the second while the visiting Bears rolled up 235 yards. The Blues didn't cross mid-field in the second half.

BUTLER 13, INDIANA CENTRAL 7

With the won-lost record standing at 3-4, the Bulldogs played host to Indiana Central. A crowd of 5,645 was on hand to witness the contest which had received many comments in the local papers as a "battle of cross-town rivals."

The determined Greyhounds surprised many fans as they fought the Butler crew to a scoreless first half. At one time, the visitors marched to the Butler 16 before losing the ball, and the Bulldog's deepest penetration in the first half was to the IC 22.

Central opened the scoring in the third quarter. Quarterback Dick Shrier sneaked over to climax a 72-yard march and Dick Nyers, on a fake kick play, passed to Jim Duncan for the seventh point. Butler came back to score on a 47-yard sprint by Nick Nardo. Tom Himes' PAT tied the score at 7-7.

With time running out in the final period, Butler's Norm Wilson intercepted a Shrier pass and carried it to the Butler 48. A pair of passes from Dick Ahrendts to Dan Lehane pushed the ball to Central's 12. Two more carries by Leroy Thompson moved it down to the IC one where freshman Bob Maxey carried it over for the deciding score.

The loss ended Central's season at 6-3 and gave Butler a 4-4 mark going into the final week of play.

BUTLER 13, WESTERN RESERVE 13

Butler closed the season against Western Reserve at Cleveland with a 13-13 deadlock.

The visiting Bulldogs scored first with Leroy Thompson spinning over from the five after he had intercepted a Reserve pass to set up the play. The TD came in the second quarter, following a scoreless opening period, and Jim Knox's conversion made it 7-0.

The hosts tallied near the end of the first half on an 84-yard drive. A pass from Dan Kramer to Mick McCoy accounted for the touchdown with Bob Blatchford adding the tying seventh point.

The Cats moved ahead in the third quarter with Candy Carroll scoring on an end sweep. Blatchford's conversion attempt missed and it was 13-7.

The final Bulldog score came near the end of the third quarter and climaxed a 69-yard march. Thompson scored again, this time from the Reserve three to knot the count. Runs by Thompson, Gerlach, and a Gerlach to Masters pass set up the final TD. Butler missed the try for the fourteenth point and the score stood at 13-13.

After a scoreless final period, the Bulldogs came home with a final season record of 4-4-1.

Young Bulldogs Post 10-14 Record

The 1954-55 Butler Bulldog squad was made up mostly of underclassmen with center Don Holloway being the only senior to see regular action. Three freshmen—Wally Cox, Bobby Plump and Ted Guzek—were starters most of the season and finished first, fourth, and sixth respectively in scoring.

In addition to being high scorer, Cox's 254 points set a new freshman record, passing Keith Greve's old mark of 215. Cox is a graduate of Indianapolis Broad Ripple where, in his senior year, he was the city's top scorer.

Plump, who was Indiana's "Mr. Basketball" during his senior year with Milan's 1954 State Champs, saw action in only 15 of the 24 games due to illness and an injured ankle. His 12.6 average for the 15 tilts put him at the top of the squad in average points per game and his 28-point performance against DePauw was the top Bulldog single performance.

Holloway, who sat out the first two games waiting for a conference ruling on eligibility, was named as the team's most valuable player at the annual basketball banquet. Don was the team captain, top rebounder, second leading scorer, and, on the whole, a steadying factor for the young squad.

A pair of juniors, Joe Ditmire and Mark Peterman, were frequent starters and added greatly to the ball club. Ditmire, fifth in scoring, finished strong with 27 points against Valparaiso in the next-to-last game. Peterman was a good rebounder and was the top man in the Bulldog's 72-59 win over Indiana State at Terre Haute with 22 points.

Dave Scheetz, a returning letterman from the '53-54 team, was one of the steadiest men on the club and could be counted on for a good job every game. He averaged 9.2 points and finished third in scoring.

In the Indiana Collegiate Conference, the Hinklemen finished with an 8-4 mark. Evansville, who split with Butler in two games, won the loop title. The rest of the Bulldog schedule was made up of Big Ten competition along with Notre Dame and Wabash.

Varsity letters, awarded at the banquet, went to Holloway, Ditmire, Peterman, Plump, Cox, Scheetz, Guzek, Henry Foster, Jack Frayman, and Beryl Kouns. Service awards were presented to Bill Frohlinger, Phil Jung, Ray Riley, Ray Baldoni, and Leon Redenbacher.

Intramurals

Athletic competition is a vital part of college life even though there are only a limited number of positions open on the varsity teams. To give the experience of sports to the rest of the student body, the men's and women's intramural programs were set up.

Directing the men's program is Frank "Pop" Hedden who is also head coach of the tennis team. The Butler organizations go all-out in the nine sports in order to try and capture the large IM Trophy which is presented at the end of the school year to the organization accumulating the most total points based on all sports.

Included on the men's program are touch football, tennis, basketball, volleyball, golf, swimming, track, table tennis, and softball.

The women's sports are under the leadership of the WRA Sports Council. Each girl on the council is in charge of one sport and the vice president of the WRA is chairman of the program. June Uphaus headed the program this year and Miss Barbara Drinkwater was the faculty sponsor.

The program for the girls is just as wide-spread as the men's, consisting of field hockey, basketball, volley ball, softball, badminton, tennis, table tennis, swimming, and archery.

Lovely and petite Judy Carter reigned this year as the 1955 Drift Queen of Queens. Her court included Beverly Baldwin, Eleanor Hackemeyer, Carolyn Hawthorne, and Ronna Secrist.

The judges had a most difficult task—picking out only five girls to serve as DRIFT Beauty Queens from nearly six times as many candidates. Acting as judges for the contest were Lt. Col. Henry Johnson, Henry Glesing, and Tommy Wadleton.

Drift

Half-way between the second and third floors of Atherton Center, is the DRIFT Office, known to the staff as our home away from home. There were times when we almost had to trade it in for a padded cell . . . when important pictures were lost . . . when a deadline wasn't met . . . when blank sheets of paper were staring us in the face, and the proper words just wouldn't come . . . when the camera didn't work as it should.

Bob Beggs, photographer, emerged occasionally from the darkroom to see if Roosevelt was still President—It's not that he had been in there for a long time, it's just that he couldn't get used to trading in his leopard skin for clothes. Susie Lucas, art editor, spent many hours bent over her drawing board, and Carolyn Wilson, faculty editor, and Sunny Orbison, activities editor, scheduled pictures, wrote copy, and added their part to the confusion which was in the Office. Joyce Cripe assisted Carolyn, and Helen Foster and Carolyn Green helped Sunny with their sections of the DRIFT.

Ann Kohlmeier and Jim Johnson, co-editors, cracked the whip over the staff, while Bill Lee, business manager, worried over the bills and balanced the books. Dr. Howard G. Baetzhold, faculty advisor, kept an eye on the staff.

The staff was especially proud of the new darkroom, which adjoined the DRIFT office. Out of these two rooms came sounds of the editors beating their heads against the walls, the photographer exercising his weird sense of humor in practical jokes, the business manager pleading with the staff to keep the bills down, and the staff tearing their hair, as the deadline neared.

But in addition to these things, the 1955 Centennial DRIFT also emerged. To paraphrase George Gobel, "So there you are, and here's the book."

Collegian

G. Breedlove, Business Manager; P. Dixon, Managing Editor; E. Reis, Assistant Business Manager.

The Butler COLLEGIAN, printed four times a week, serves as an aid to practical application of the theories and techniques learned by journalism majors in their classes. The ink-stained fingers of would-be journalists set headlines, pound the typewriter keys, proofread copy, and work many hours a day to publish a newspaper for the students.

The first semester, the COLLEGIAN was under the leadership of Ted Wetzler and Don Powers. They were assisted by Dick Landrigan, Business Manager; J. B. McKamey, Sports Editor; June Wolfe, Editorial Director; Joan Davis, Social Editor; and Pat Moriarity, Feature Editor.

Don Powers again assumed the duties of Editor-in-Chief for the second semester. This time, his staff included Polly Dixon, Managing Editor; Gene Breedlove, Business Manager; and Larry French, Sports Editor. The faculty sponsors for the year were Mr. Harry H. Griggs, and Prof. Rosamond Jones.

Although the principal staff positions were filled by journalism majors, students who merely had an interest in journalism were welcome to try their hand at reporting.

The COLLEGIAN campaigned vigorously for a reading day and circulated a petition asking to have this request granted. They threw editorial brick-bats and bouquers wherever they were deserved, and kept the students informed about the latest campus happenings.

Freshman Camp

ARRIVAL

To give the incoming freshmen a taste of college life—and also to provide them with a little fun—is the purpose of the Freshman Camp. The Camp, sponsored each year by the YM-YWCA, is held on Labor Day week end at McCormick's Creek State Park.

Speakers and discussion groups add a few serious moments to a week end crowded with fun and orientation. The freshmen learn about Butler activities and scholastic achievements, and are given a chance to find the answers to their many questions concerning college life.

This year, Judy Woolgar and Bill Davis were co-chairmen of this event which combined business with pleasure. A treasure hunt, a square dance, song-fests, and mixers were all on the agenda during that crowded week end.

Freshman Mixer and Pep Rally

Not only were the freshmen really "mixing it up" at the Freshman Mixer, but the upper-classmen did their fair share. The "older" men stopped in to look over this year's young "crop," and the girls stopped in to view their future competition.

Pert Donna Cheshire, a Pi Phi pledge from Indianapolis, and Rick Shahovskoy, a Kappa Sig pledge from California, won the titles of Typical Freshman Girl and Typical Freshman Boy.

The Freshman Mixer is sponsored annually by the YM-YWCA. This year, Bill Lee and Judy Rinehart filled the posts of co-chairmen for the event.

Shortly after being introduced to the social life at Butler, the boys living in the Men's Residence Hall were treated to a rousing pep session — complete with Dixieland music— where they were able to learn the Butler yells.

Rushed

On the Tuesday following Labor Day, confusion and chaos become the rule rather than the exception. We all agree that Rush Week could not have a more appropriate caption.

No one has ever decided whether the rushees or the actives suffer more during Rush Week. The girl candidates spend the first day of the week visiting every sorority on campus. And each sorority on campus feels that it is its duty to bestow upon each rushee a delightful confection to help tide her over until dinner time. Seven of these fluffy concoctions, and the rushees aren't exactly looking forward to dinner—Ever!

The rest of the week is spent in calling at the various houses during the mornings, and gossiping about the mornings during the afternoons. The actives clean up the house, prepare for the next day, and end their day with a "hash" session in the proverbial "smoke-filled room."

At sometime during the week, each organization tosses an elaborate party as the budget will allow, and puts out the biggest welcome mat, while the rushees nervously await the appointed time for their entrance.

The fraternities choose to make their rush in more formal, and entertain their rushees by inviting them over to Smokers. The fancy dishes—just cokes and pretzels, and good old-fashioned mantalk—will be found at these parties "For Men Only."

First Daze

Registration

After the activities devoted to freshman orientation and rushing, Butler's regular academic year swung into high gear with all students scrambling for satisfactory schedules. Pink cards . . . blue cards . . . white cards . . . yellow cards . . . We signed our names on all of them. We wrote our names and addresses twelve different times—for the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, the Registrar and Bursar, the Blue Book editors, the Religious Council, and a half-dozen others—they all wanted to know.

We walked from one table to another in a state of dazed confusion, and tried to keep our class schedules straight. There was no more discouraging a sight than a professor sadly shaking his head while he murmured, "I'm sorry, that class is full. You'll have to take it at another time." Then, we tried to rearrange our classes, an operation which is easier said than done.

After spending several weary hours walking from one table to another—and then back to the first one . . . we finally made our way past the booths selling Drifts, memberships, and tickets, posed wearily for our I.D. picture, and staggered out the door to freedom.

The next stop on our Registration Day itinerary was the bookstore. We complained about the prices, and groaned about the weight of the text-books. But finally, registration was completed; and we were ready to begin a new semester.

No sooner had we completed registration it seemed, than mid-terms were upon us. And we had scarcely recovered from them, when it was time for that necessary evil—Finals! We campaigned vigorously for a reading day, but our attempts were unsuccessful. As the day of reckoning approached, the library attendance increased, and the number of bridge players in the C-Club dwindled.

We groaned about the amount of reading that we must review . . . frantically searched for missing notes . . . wistfully wished that we had gone to class a couple of more times instead of playing that extra hand of bridge . . . and finally began to study with a feverish haste.

Somehow, we lived through that week, and managed to pass our finals—or most of them. When they were all over and we could once again call our time our own, we dashed through our favorite door—the one that leads to the C-Club.

WRA Splash Party

FIRST DATE

One of the first social events to appear on the school calendar this year was an all-School Splash Party. Sponsored by the Women's Recreational Association it was held on a Wednesday night after fraternity and sorority meetings.

We had a chance to join the fun, both at the various game booths and in the pool. Fancy diving, games of water-tag and follow-the-leader, and just plain dogpaddling were in evidence that night, when we freely admitted that we were "all wet."

WRA Square Dance

"Dive for the oyster, and dig for the clam!" "Swing your partners, and do-si-do!" Between laughing at the confused attempts of others to keep with the music and trying to promenade back to our own places in time, we were constantly gasping for breath.

We were swung from one partner to another until the caller brought the dance to a halt, and we collapsed momentarily into the nearest chair.

A Witch and a Scarecrow were crowned at this dance, which is sponsored annually by WRA. This year Joan Leslie, Pr Phi, received the title of Witch, while Charlie Marks, of the Men's Dorm, was named Scarecrow. Judy Woolgar, WRA president, announced the winners.

Those lucky enough to have their names drawn, were awarded door-prizes donated by the Atherton Center Bookstore.

Homecoming

Early November saw us with little else on our minds but Homecoming. We bravely faced problems concerning the hurried last-minute preparations for our Homecoming floats. We stomped our feet to keep warm . . . fled for shelter when it started to rain . . . and tried our best to keep our eye-lids from drooping. But the next day—when we paraded with our floats through downtown Indianapolis—we were proud of our handiwork, and the worries and complaints of the night before were forgotten.

Especially proud were the members of Delta Delta Delta who carried home the first place trophy in the girls' division for their float bearing the slogan, "Butler Fiddles While Washington Burns." The Sigma Chi's also stepped into the winner's circle to claim the first place trophy in the boys' division for their float with the theme, "We'll Get the Jump on the Bears."

The freshmen girls were glad to share in the doffing of their green beanies, even though they were out-classed by the sophomores in the tug of war. The freshmen were jubilant on this day, for they would no longer have to worry about their ever-present green beanies—by virtue of the freshmen boys' win over the sophomores in the greased pole fight. The greased pole encounter was a fight to the finish, as the freshmen sent in three waves of fresh troops against the weary, but determined sophomores. The small band defending the pole held their own until the last few moments.

5 GIVE 'EM THE DOUBLE SHUFFLE

We returned home from the Parade just in time for a quick bite of supper before lighting our torches and joining the Torchlight Procession.

"We'll sing the Butler War-Song," was the roar as we made our way towards the huge bonfire where the Washington Bears were burned in effigy. We applauded the team . . . joined the cheerleaders in that time-honored yell "BU-LL-DO-GS" . . . were inspired with pep by Butler's most enthusiastic supporter, Chuck Henzie . . . and listened to Coach Tony Hinkle praise the team.

Then back to our respective houses we went to spend the rest of the night in preparing our house decorations.

"Where are the other green napkins—I've got to 'stuff' the rest of this side of the float." "Would someone PLEASE try to find the scissors and the cardboard!" These were our woeful cries as the wee hours of the morning approached.

Suddenly, the house decorations were finished, and we anxiously waited the arrival of the judges. All these hours of work and toil were well worth it to the members of Alpha Chi Omega, as they were announced the winners in the girl's division of the first place trophy, with their slogan of "Let's Give 'Em the Double Shuffle."

The Kappa Sigmas also came in for their share of praise as they stepped forward to receive the first place award in the boy's division, with their theme, "Sno' Secret What Washington Couldn't Bear."

Lovely Sara Spradling, Kappa Alpha Theta, ruled as this year's Homecoming Queen. She was first crowned informally in the C-Club, soon after the election results were announced.

Sara began her official duties at the Float Parade, and then presided over the Homecoming game. Her reign was ended at the Dance, Saturday evening. Paula Baumgartner, last year's Homecoming Queen, crowned Queen Sara after Sara and her Court had been introduced to the audience.

Butler Plays Host To Celebrities

Several famous personalities visited Butler this year, much to the delight of the students. President Eisenhower made an appearance at the Fieldhouse in October, giving a speech about the farm program. The Butler Young Republicans organized to give Ike a rousing welcome.

Van Johnson stopped in Naptown for a personal appearance, and ten lucky Butler girls were invited to help Van with his act. This occasion was the premiere of "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Vice-president Nixon also gave an address at the Butler Fieldhouse, when he was in Indianapolis for the dedication of the Community Hospital.

Last year, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis gave a performance at the Fieldhouse, and the Butler students ushered.

The Pi Phi's brought a cannibal island, complete with waterfall to 831 W. Hampton Dr. for their pledge dance.

Joan Bolen found out, at the Lambda Chi Watermelon Bust, that eating watermelon without a fork could be messy!

VACATION

It seemed to us as if Christmas vacation would never come— Then suddenly, the holidays were upon us. We rushed around doing last minute Christmas shopping . . . braved the wintry winds to carol . . . and counted the days until vacation would arrive.

The annual Christmas Convocation was held on the last day of school. The Jordan Ballet again added their talents to those of the Choir to make this one of the most impressive convocations of the year.

Blue Key gave the school a permanent Christmas tree which they planted outside Atherton Center. At the tree-lighting ceremony sponsored by the Phi Kappas, the lights on this tree were officially turned on by Dean Burdin. The crowd was treated to the music of a choral group made up of the song leaders of each sorority, and even Santa Claus paid a visit on this festive occasion.

TRUTH & FREEDOM
1855-1955
THROUGH LEARNING

Almost any time of day, we could walk into the C-Club, grab a group of our cohorts playing bridge, grabbing a quick bite to eat, holding a gab session, or even trying to study.

A typical C-Club day might go as follows: As the hour strikes, a new group of students move in to take the place of those who must hurry off to class. At ten after, a straggler walks in looking for his "group." If he can't find them, he suddenly becomes aware that he is standing while everyone else is sitting—and that he is sitting alone while everyone else is talking.

For against the background of the current favorite on the juke-box, we hear the flow of conversation surge about us—The party boys talk about last night's "blast" . . . the intellectuals speak of loftier subjects . . . the couples whisper sweet nothings . . . the "Big Wheels" plan their next campus project . . . and the girls punctuate their gossip with the word "boy," while the word "girl" frequently pops up in the boys' conversation.

Less formal co-ed functions are held, too, such as this impromptu snow-ball fight.

Pledges are officially introduced to friends and students of Butler University at the Fall open-houses.

Chatter, stunts, and dinners are exchanged as the fraternities and sororities get together at their annual exchange dinners.

Fun, Fads and Fashions

Along with the three R's, we talked about the three F's too— Fun, Fads, and Fashions. George "And there you are" Gobel made TV fame over-night as his slow and easy-going drawl, and his clever remarks were imitated by everyone—especially college students. His famous remark, "And you can't hardly get them no more," could be heard in almost every conversation. We listened to the usual number of hit songs, and we especially liked the quartet recordings. The McGuire Sisters, the DeJohn Sisters, the Chordettes, the Four Freshmen, the Crew-Cuts, and a host of others caught our attention. It was rumored that any group which sang a song with intelligent words was kicked out of the business! Such classics as "Sh-l-h-l-h-boom," "Opp-Shoop," and "Shake, Rattle, and Roll," hit the stands and made their way onto the Hit Parade. We played bridge incessantly and dreamed of holding the perfect bridge hand . . . but we sometimes wondered if we would know how to bid it. Knee socks proved that they were here to stay as more and more girls began wearing them to class. The men broke into the fashion world as they began sporting Bermuda shorts. The masculine leg, complete with muscle and knobby knees, was uncovered in public. As usual, the girls followed the fashions of the year . . . the H-Line, first introduced by Dior, was met by cat-calls from the male population and by approval from the girls . . . Smoking pipes, another pastime for the girls, was objected to by the boys on the grounds that the girls were taking over a heretofore strictly masculine realm . . . And once again, long hair became the style as the female half of the student body anxiously waited for their shorn locks of last year to grow out again.

The Mambo craze hit the campus, and although not many of us knew just how the steps went, we all tried.

Over and over again, we heard the evils of the caucus system being debated, but we finally decided that it was here to stay. When election times came near, campaigning reached a feverish peak as caucus members tried to pull the votes in for their candidates.

The pledges made posters . . . the candidates shook hands heartily . . . and the Student Council watched over the polls. Streamers, favors, and pictures were passed out in attempts to sway the voters. When the final votes were counted, it was found that the "Little Caucus" had taken more than their share of the offices and queenships.

GENEVA STUNTS

Practicing until the wee hours, fitting our costumes, and learning the words to new songs—all these went into producing a Geneva Stunts act.

On March 11, we were ready to present our act to the public. On that night, all of us struggled into our costumes . . . put on our make-up . . . experienced bad cases of "nerves" . . . and agreed that there was "no business like show business."

At the end of the evening, the Theta's were announced the winners in the sorority division with their act, "Navy Blue." The Sigma Chi's emerged victorious, too, with their act, "Best of Broadway."

So you got pinned . . .

Hey! That's cold!

Is it all worth it?

Why doesn't she hurry?

Enter: The Heroine

Maybe it's worth it
after all!

BY THE CANAL

"The weaker sex is stronger than the stronger sex because of the stronger sex's weakness for the weaker sex." And every year this weakness is proven by the number of fraternity pins that change hands.

One by one, we watched our friends join the ranks of those "pinned." The subject of "pinning" was discussed and debated, but regardless of the outcome of the argument, we agreed that it had become one of Butler's favorite traditions.

Some pinnings lasted only a few days; some would last a life-time. But in any case, the sparkle of the pin could not match the sparkle in the eyes of the couple involved.

PAN-HEL

Once a year the tables are turned and the girls treat the boys to an evening of fun and festivity. The girls not only foot the bills and make corsages for their dates, but they also hold the chairs for them, light their cigarettes, provide the transportation, and take care of the other social details which are normally the duty of the men.

We all decided that one night of turn-about was fun, but we wouldn't want to make this situation a habit. At the end of the evening, the girls ruefully surveyed their flat pocket-books, and the boys had the pleasure of exclaiming, "Now, you know what it's like."

A tally of the ballots cast revealed that Bill Davis, Kappa Sig, was the choice for Panhel King. Carolyn Green's clever corsage, proudly worn by her date, won the prize for the best corsage.

In 1871, the first public water supply in Indianapolis began operation. It was not until 1903, however, that the Indianapolis Water Company caught up with Butler. At that time, water mains were laid in Butler Avenue and University Avenue, adjacent to the Irvington campus. Today, a safe and adequate water supply surrounds Butler and from the campus can be seen the canal, another landmark for the homing student.

INDIANAPOLIS WATER COMPANY

This "funny old car" that looks so antique beside today's sleek, powerful motor cars was once the finest thing on the road—"the ultimate in styling and engine design."

And the "gas" that was dispensed from the creaking hand pump in front of the grocery store (quite different from the modern super-fuels you get at today's super-service stations) was once "the finest at any price."

What changed them?

You don't have to look far for the answer. It's competition.

Every person and business in America is free to outdo the other fellow—to produce something better—so more people will buy it.

That's why this year's cars are sleeker and more powerful than last year's. That's why service stations (like ours) keep getting more modern and gleaming, offering finer and finer petroleum products.

Competition among tens of thousands of independent businesses in the petroleum industry makes such progress possible—and necessary.

As long as our economic system works that way, this will be a pretty wonderful and exciting country, won't it, in which to live and work and get ahead?
